

Dear FCC,

As a concerned citizen, I wanted to express my very strong desire to avoid further deregulation of media. By allowing a single owner to control both a TV station and newspaper within a confined geographic area, numerous concerns arise.

One possible concern rests within the owner's personal interests. Owners could interfere with vital public information; therefore, the public responsibility media should face will be reduced. Such a concern along with many others would be neglected and unpreventable if the FCC allows such practices to take place.

Thank you for your consideration,

Sincerely,
